During the month of December, the St. Francis community is focusing on the cornerstone of faith. Our virtue verse is Hebrews 11:1: "Now faith is confidence in what we hope for and assurance about what we do not see." Try to memorize it as a family. You can also watch this short video to learn ASL for faith.

Table Talk: Play "pass the story." One family member starts a story and each family member adds a new part. See how many examples of faith you can add to the story. For an extra challenge, use the following words: "candle," "Christmas," "stocking," and "yo-yo."

From the Music Teacher

Music gives us a common "language" and unites us. Aesthetic reasons, while arguably important, are not the only reasons a quality music education is necessary for children.

Fun facts about music:

- The first fully functioning sense is the auditory system. It functions at 6 months of gestational age, when babies detect speech and pitch.
- Musically trained students have twice the auditory working memory of non-musicians.
- Musically trained students are better at reading because they practice timing, rhythm, and fluency.
- Learning music increases auditory comprehension (like hearing instructions in a busy classroom).

While it may appear that we're merely singing in a circle, we're doing so much more:

- We are developing other ways of learning beyond what is visual.
- We are including movement activities that help children stabilize emotionally and improve spatial awareness, focus, and balance.
- We are giving words meaning.
- We are having fun and making both friends and beautiful music, all through joyful play.

Warmly,

Nicole Fair
Primary/Lower School Music Teacher

Lower School

From the Division Head

The Christmas spirit was alive and well in our Lower School this past week!

The students were incredibly generous as they donated gifts for “Toys for Tots.” Last year, this amazing organization donated more than 97,000 toys to 24,000+ children. The Village Fire Department came to campus on Friday, and each class came down to the People Place with their toys. Santa was there to greet the students as they gave their toys to the officers. It warms my heart to see our students living the “people for others” mission!

I came upon this wonderful article, which offers many suggestions on how to promote a generous spirit during the holiday season. It is so important to model for our students that it is in giving that we truly receive the best gifts in life.

Every student also participated in making an ornament for our school Christmas trees. In art class, some made origami ornaments, while others made wooden ornaments. Your child will bring home his or her creation before the holiday break so that you can hang it on your family tree.

We are looking forward to our kindergarten friends' Christmas concert this coming Wednesday, December 11, at 9:00 a.m. This presentation always gets everyone in the celebratory spirit!

We are looking forward to a wonderful week!

Fondly,

Carol Christ, MEd
Head of Lower School

From the Division Head

I hope you and your family have settled back into the routines of school after the Thanksgiving break! I have a request related to attendance and healthy students this week. My message is not intended to be a follow-up to a specific incident, but is a general reminder as we prepare for winter.

This is the season when illness seems to strike at school communities, and this makes it especially important that families send healthy children to school each day. We want your children here with us whenever possible, but certain illnesses (stomach bug, fever, and flu, as a few examples) are better treated or managed from home. Illness distracts focus from schoolwork and exposes classmates and adults in the community to infection. In many cases, a dose of medicine can alleviate the symptoms of a common cold, and kiddos are fine throughout the day. However, if your child is truly ill, please keep them home so they can rest, recover, and help us keep others at St. Francis healthy.

In partnership,

Chris Bertha, MEd
Head of Middle School

Upper School

From the Humanities Department Chair

Happy holidays! I can't believe we're already at the end of 2019. As I reflect on the first part of the school year, I feel so grateful to work with faculty and students who are passionate and creative.

My philosophy about humanities is really simple: Humanities is the study of what makes us human. No matter what text we read or what story we tell or what history we remember, we're always trying to answer the big question: What does it mean to be human? The Xhosa people of Southern Africa have a philosophy that I love. They say: Ubuntu ngubuntu ngabantu. It translates literally to, "A person is a person through other people," and it means that a human is a fully realized person through his or her relationships with other people.

I'm blessed and excited to be able to teach and learn about our shared human connections in humanities at St. Francis. I'm thankful for Dr. Matt Jones, who is doing a fantastic job teaching our ninth and tenth graders. Dr. Henderson and the whole Upper School team have welcomed both Matt and me into the fold and made the transition easier for both of us. The students bring their curiosity and energy to our program. And, I'm grateful for the support of our parents, who do so much work behind the scenes for both students and teachers and help make our program a success. I'm looking forward to an excellent year in humanities in 2020!

Best wishes,

Jared Staller, PhD
Chair, Humanities Department
